THE HEIGHTS OF HISTORY

Atop the world, among the lofty peaks of Switzerland, the giant Wetterhorn raises its triple head above a circlet of white clouds to gaze across high fertile meadows at the haughty Jungfrau, to look northward to towering Mt. Blanc in France, southward to the heights of Mt. Rosa in Italy. In the midst of these mighty mountains, chained together by the nebulous links of snowy clouds, tremendous height is the norm, not the exception.

Today, we stand in the rarified altitudes of history, surrounded by such supernal situations that one cannot distinguish which is the greatest moment in a gigantic range of current happenings. Tarawa, Bretton Woods, Dumbarton Oaks, Yalta, or San Francisco's UNCIO. Scarcely has the world recovered its breath after scaling the tremendous heights of the UNCIO, when it is confronted with the colossal elevation of a new historical prominence, the meeting in Potsdam where this week President Truman, Prime Minister Churchill and Premier Stalin, as representatives of the United States, Great Britain and Soviet Russia, will arrive at decisions affecting the present status of world affairs and the future trends of world history.

Potsdam, which is situated 16 miles southwest of Berlin, was the capital of the Prussian state of Brandenburg. In Potsdam is the luxurious palace of Sans Souci, one-time imperial residence of Frederick the Great. In 1806, Napoleon occupied the palace and there discovered the sword of Frederick, together with his cordon of the Black Eagle and siezing these trophies, Napoleon exclaimed, "I prefer these to twenty millions."

In the eighteenth century, Frederick the Great and Napoleon singally achieved the peaks of greatness for their respective countries, but a greatness which could not be maintained. This week's meeting at Potsdam, demonstrates that today, to successfully scale the heights of history, the nations of the world must be bound together by mutual understanding just as Alpine climbers, scaling the icy peak of the Mattern, are roped together for mutual security.

GNATURE GNOTES

"Gno gnus are good gnus,"
Is what they always say
In the heart of darkest Africa
Where the gnus and the antelope play.
Gnow gnats are gnot so gnoticeable,
They have gno width gnor height,
They have gno tusks gnor teeth to gnash,
But brother, can they bite!

UNCONDITIONAL SURRENDER

On February 16, 1862 at Fort Donelson, a mesage went forth from General Ulysses S. Grant to General Simon Buckner of the Confederate Army, "No other terms than unconditional and immediate surrender can be accepted. I propose to move immediately upon your works."

Today and every day, until the complete defeat of Japan is achieved and the unconditional surrender of Japan is accepted, that same message should go forth.

It seems incredible, remembering the arch-treachery of Japan in negotiating peace while staging a sneak attack on Pearl Harbor on December 7, 1941, that today any American can beat the drums for a negotiated peace with Japan, or make demand that the terms of unconditional surrender be defined for our enemies. It is sufficient that President Truman has stated, "By unconditional surrender, the United States does not mean enslavement or extermination of the Japanese people."

Property Taxes On Upgrade For 1945-46 Says California Taxpayers Association

Local property tax levies in San Mateo county averaged $40.70 for each $1,000 of assessed valuation for 1944-45, the last completed fiscal year, California Taxpayers' association said today, making public its analysis of the property tax bill in California counties.

For 1943-44, local property tax levies in the county averaged $37.40 per $1,000 of valuation; for 1942-43, they averaved $36.50 per $1,000. County, city, school, and special district levies are included.

The county is one of 25 in California in which property taxes levied averagerd between $30 and $40 per $1,000 of assessed value in 1944-45.

Preliminary local budget figures throughout the state indicate a considerable increase in local property taxes for 1945-46, unless action is taken to reduce local spending programs," the Taxpayers' association declared.

"Public hearings on the county budget must be held by August 10, but may be held long before. School budget public hearings are held during the first week of August.

"Taxpayers should let their local governing boards know their ideas on public spending programs, before it is too late."

A hearing on the tentative budget for the city of Menlo is set for Tuesday night, July 24, 8:00 p.m., during the regular City Council meeting at the city hall.

Scout News

Scoring an upset in the Cub baseball league, Pack 62 of North Oaks, under the coaching of Cubmaster Sipe, defeated the fast Pack 3 team of Ravenswood on the Flood Park diamond by a score of 13 to 7. Going into the last half of the fifth inning with the score tied seven all, the winning team put over six runs off the pitching of Piazza. The losers were held hitless and runless in their half of the sixth.

Scoring 22 runs off the combined pitching of Darknell, West and Keegan, the local Pack 4 team brought its winning streak to three games, having defeated each of the other Packs in one league game.

The pitching of Blocker, Gibbs, Terhune, Bickle and Melvin was very effective, allowing only two runners to get on base both as a result of walks. Twelve of the Las Lomitas batters were retired on strikes. The Melvins, Paul and Pat, accounted for six of the winners' 22 runs; Blocker with four for four, and getting two triples to his credit. Fred Bickle, up twice, walked and hit a home run to score twice. Paul Melvin and Bob Davis each hit doubles to drive in runs.

"GREETINGS FROM ANNA" SAYS BOMB DROPPED ON JAPAN BY MELVIN HOSS

Mrs. Anna Hoss, whose son, Tech Sergeant Melvin Hoss has been in the Army air corps for several years and overseas for many months, received a letter from him this week which delighted and amused her.

She had been imagining him sleeping in fox holes and eating out of cans and like all mothers, couldn't help worrying. In spite of her cheerful letters, something of her feeling must have crept into them, for Melvin's last letter contained two pictures—one of himself, stretched out in his tent on a comfortable bed, on his face a broad grin and the other, a picture of a huge bomb on the side of which he had painted in large letters, "Greetings from Anna."

The bomb has since been dropped on Tokio, so Anna Hoss reports, "mission completed."

DONATED BLOOD

Mrs. J. L. Williams and Mrs. T. B. Buck donated blood to the San Mateo County Blood Bank during the past week.

The immediate shortening of the present conflict by negotiated peace would not be saving American lives since it would be but an armistice in a war than can only be permanently and successfully concluded by the unconditional surrender of the Japanese.

Oak Moth Flight Heaviest In Years

Further severe damage to oak trees by the California Oak Moth is predicted by Agricultural Commissioner, Max J. Leonard, who has been observing the flight and answering innumerable questions from local residents as to how to protect trees from the pest.

According to Leonard, it is one of the heaviest moth flights in the history of the county. The moths are in the egg laying stage now and within a month, larvae or worms from thes eggs should be big enough to do tremendous damage to trees. The eggs are deposited on the leaves and twigs and smaller branches where the worms hatch and immediately begin to feed on the foliage.

The recommendation of the County Department of Agriculture is for residents to take precautions and make an effort to have their trees sprayed with arsnate of lead, which will give full protection against the pest.

Biography In Miniature

MISS LUCIE VANDERGON

Among the family records in Miss Lucie Vandergon's home on Hoover street, is a steel engraved portrait of her great grandfather, J. J. Denier Van der Gon, who was a minister of the Netherlands church in Holland.

Miss Vandergon's grandfather, Peter Denier Van der Gon, who was what was known in those days as an apothecary, married Maria Dirksvaeger.

Their coat of arms, of which Miss Vandergon has a replica, dates back to 1315.

Lucie Vandergon's father received his education in Rotterdam. He served in the Dutch army and later studied navigation and received his papers as a licensed navigator. He married Mary Gertrude Braat. His bride had come to America with her parents when she was 12 years old. Vandergon came to this country at the age of 21 and one of the first things he did, was to take his citizenship papers.

After their marriage, the Vandergons lived in Silver Creek, Minnesota. Here they reared a family of eight children, five girls and three boys. They lived on a farm and Lucie Vandergon recalls her childhood on this farm as one of the happiest memories of her life. It was a veritable paradise for children. In summer, they had swimming, fishing and picnics on the lakes. In winter there was sledding and ice skating.

While Lucie was still in grammar school, the family came to California and settled in Morgan Hill, where her father had a fruit ranch.

Lucie went through high school and later, was graduated from San Jose State College. In high school, she had taken a commercial course and intended to enter the business world, but her mother, whose father had been a schoolmaster, wanted her daughter to be a school teacher. It was a fortunate choice, for Miss Vandergon says her teaching never semed a task to her. She loved her work and enjoyed her association with her pupils.

Her first position as a teacher was in Siskiyu county in the Mt. Shasta region, where she stayed four years. Later she had a position as teacher in the school at Morgan Hill, where she had been a pupil.

At this time, her parents returned to Minnesota. Lucie went with them and taught in the two-room school in the district where her parents had first settled. Later she taught in Monticello, on the Mississippi river and at Staples, a railroad town. At this period she returned to California and taught for four years at Salinas.

She then came to Menlo Park where she taught the first grade for almost 18 years.

Miss Vandergon is a natural born collector, especially of family records, books, letters and pictures. She has one book, a history of Holland, printed in Amsterdam, in the original binding, which is 113 years old. She has numerous scrap books, travels, garden and poetry.

She has a collection of photographs of her first grade classes. Members of which today are scattered over all the world.

Miss Vandergon has an interesting collection gathered in her extensive travels. Her hobbies are china painting, needlework, reading, gardening and travel, the last named, being her greatest delight and one that she has enjoyed most. She has traveled extensively in the United States and has visited Canada, Hawaii and British Columbia.

Her most interesting trip was one she took to Europe in 1938. She visited Sweden, Denmark, the British Isles, Russia, Iceland, Finland, Belgium, France and Holland.

In the latter country, Miss Vandergon made a prolonged visit with relatives. During her stay at the old family home, Queen Wilhelmina celebrated the 40th year of her reign and Miss Vandergon witnessed the festivities.

Miss Vandergon expects to retire from the school department this year. She intends to travel again after the war and in the meantime, she will enjoy her garden and her books. She has been a member of the Menlo Park PTA for 18 years and is secretary of benevolence at the Presbyterian church. A sister, Mrs. H. H. Bearce lives on Hoover street.

O. H. Olson, district superintendent, says of Miss Vandergon's long record as a teacher:

"Miss Vandergon has taught the first grade at Menlo Park for many years. On the work of a first grade teacher, depends the entire record of any pupil. It is the groundwork, the foundation. The type of graduates we have had from Central school is testimony of Miss Vandergon's ability as a teacher."

Pfc Fred Wilson Welcomed By Truman On Return To States From Okinawa

Pfc Fred W. Wilson, son of Mrs. Fred Wilson, 1077 Valparaiso, Menlo Park, wounded at the height of the fighting on Okinawa, hardly expected the welcome home he received when his plane came into Hamilton Field, last week.

Wilson was officially welcomed home by no less a personage than his commander in chief, President Harry S. Truman, who stopped off at Hamilton en route to San Francisco.

Fred, 26-year-old veteran of three campaigns, Leyte, Ie Shima, and Okinawa, describes Okinawa terrain as "the worst I've ever seen. It was tough going all the way. The civilians weren't all fanatical or suicidal, though. Strangely enough, I saw many who wanted to be friendly with us. As a matter of fact," he says smilingly, "some of the younger Okinawan girls were even rather attractive."

Wounded May 22 when a sniper's bullet shattered the bone of his right leg, Wilson received first aid little more than an hour after he was hit and was taken to a field hospital almost immediately to begin the long journey home.

"Those Japs are a pretty rugged bunch of guys," Wilson declares. "They may not be as educated as our soldiers, but they're a stubborn bunch in the clinches."

Fred thinks he's pretty lucky to be stationed at Dibble, practically in his own back yard, so to speak.

Besides the Purple Heart, Wilson wears the Bronze Star, Atlantic-Pacific ribbon with four battle stars, Expert Infantryman's badge, and Philippine Liberation ribbon. He entered the service July 7, 1944, and received basic training at Camp Roberts, going overseas December 25 of last year.

High-Y Nine Upsets Ravenswood 10-3

High Y finally broke into the winning bracket last Sunday in the South County Junior C League by taking an easy victory from the Ravenswood youngsters by a 10 to 3 score.

Willie Silvestri did the mound duties for the High pastimers and was stingy with his hits, allowing three. He also poled a long triple that was a factor in the scoring. Ravenswood fielding was off color allowing six runs.

Nativity Takes Las Loimtas

In the second game of the day, Nativity Youth turned the tables on their arch rivals Las Lomitas by taking the long end of an 8 to 5 score in a game that held the interest of the crowd until the last man was retired. The Youths nailed the game in the very first inning in a combination of walks and hits that netted them four runs. Las Lomitas made quite a splurge in the sixth inning, putting three runs over the platter. In the seventh and last frame, Dick Collins, the promising Nativity rookie, after having one run scored, turned on the heat and retired the next three batters in order. Las Lomitas tried three pitchers, Moore, Freitas and Darknell who had difficulty in locating the plate, proving their undoing. A feature of the game was a long triple by Larry Johnston with a couple of men on the plate that started the Youths on their way to victory.

Ratiocinations

LOUIS J. STELLMAN

With the mass redeployment of battle troops to permanent or temporary homecomings, there have arisen a host of complaints which seem, in some instances, surprising if not unreasonable. The most furious of these concern unsatisfactory traveling accomodations.

It is difficult to imagine soldiers who have experienced the indescribable hardships of war, "beefing" loudly about overcrowded coaches, outmoded sanitary equipment and lesser inconveniences, especially at a time when civilians have put up with them uncomplainingly for years—if they can get them at all; sometimes waiting as long as thirty days for a chance to travel more than fifty miles.

Every right-minded person would like our fighting men to have the best of everything as a recompense for their sacrifices. And, apparently, they have been getting it wherever circumstances permitted. That a movement for returning them to their home should be months ahead of schedule is a part of this commendable effort. That it has been speeded to an extent beyond the possibility of containment is due to somebody's bungling. Railway cars have long been too scarce to take care of ordinary troop movements and the trickle of civilians for whom travel is essential. When the demand was trebled, if not quadupled, there was no other physical answer than overcrowding, subnormal service and the employment of some obsolete rolling stock. The great majority of our homeward bound troops have realized and good-naturedly excused this dislocation, but the few whose complaints have been more than voluble, have magnified it to the proportions of a national scandal.

It is more or less natural that returning G.I.'s expect everything to be wonderful when they return to America and their disappointment in finding railway travel far below the pre-war status may have irritated battle-jarred nerves and tempers. A report, apparently unfounded, that Italian prisoners were riding in Pullmans, agravated their sense of ill treatment.

Efforts have been made to minimize travel discomforts by cutting Pullman priorities allowed to civilians in half and forbidding the transport of race-horses, but it is doubtful whether such "drops in the bucket" can effect any perceptible improvement. Nor is there anything but negative consolation in the knowledge that soldiers nowadays, are incomparably better off than in World War I.

We must accept the situation more or less philosphically as one of those disturbances caused by monstrous economic disruption and be glad that everything on the whole has gone so well.
